

LIFE IN THE WATERS

Of Sulphur Springs, I. T.,
Popular Health Resort.

SEVEN FOUNTAINS GUSH

And Rest and Health Await the Weary Pilgrim.

Sulphur Springs, I. T., July 15.—The efficacy of the mineral springs of this place is fast drawing the attention of the whole west to the city where the wonderful springs are located.

The town is located about ten miles east of Davis, on the Gulf, Colorado and Santa Fe railroad. It is a beautiful town on a spur of the Arbuckle mountains, and stands at an altitude of 1,500 feet, being divided by two gushing verdure lined mountain brooks, which are fed by the many wonderful springs, whose curative powers have been known to prove effective when the Sulphur Springs of Virginia, Baxter Springs and other American spas had proved useless. People who could not get relief at Hot Springs, Arkansas, have found it here.

In the heart of the Chickasaw Nation the marvelous powers of the seven springs, all within a few feet of one another, have long been known to the Indians. For twenty years people have been in the custom of camping at them for the benefit of the waters. People suffering from old wounds, liver complaints, eczema and rheumatism have been cured and have spread the news abroad to their friends.

The first building in the town was erected in June, 1885. In September, 1885, the postoffice was established, and the city was incorporated in August, 1898. The first election was held on September 8, 1898, and Dr. J. N. Kirby was the first mayor. The city had a large fire on April 27, 1909, but has quickly recovered, new buildings of a more substantial nature than their predecessors going up on all hands.

The surrounding country is very beautiful, and in agricultural products can be made to yield bountifully. There are here, too, large asphaltum beds, two plants within walking distance of the town being in full operation. A wagonette meets all trains at Davis, and the drive to Sulphur Springs is exhilarating and well worth taking.

Here, on July 20, 21 and 22 the ex-Confederates will hold one of the largest reunions ever held in the southwest. This will be the first reunion of the gallant men of the south for the Indian Territory. The reunion is to be held at the Hotel El Reno, and the ex-Confederates from Texas, Arkansas and other points. Captain D. J. Kendall of Ardmore is here and is now general manager of the Old Soldiers ex-Confederate reunion. His management insures a success. Captain Kendall raised the first company of Rough Riders in the Indian Territory. The reunion will bring in many thousands of the old soldiers and their people who have heard of the wonderful springs but have never visited them. T. R. Cook, the present mayor, is doing everything in his power to make the entertainment of the guests thorough.

BETWEEN LIFE AND DEATH

Editor Detweiler of Elid Lingers, Having Attempted Suicide.

Guthrie, O. T., July 15.—Solomon Detweiler, editor of the Elid Evening News, took morphine in this city this morning with suicidal intent. At this writing he is still alive, but unconscious, and the attending physicians are unable to say whether he will recover or not. Editor Detweiler came to Guthrie Thursday evening and registered at the Oklahoma Hotel. Yesterday evening he was with a party of newspaper friends and at midnight he called at the editorial rooms of the State Capital. He evidently was without money, for when he returned to the hotel for the purpose of retiring, the night clerk suggested that he pay his bill, as he was without baggage, and he replied that he was the guest of Ned Sisson, of the United States marshal's office, but he would make a draft in the morning. He then went up to his room and went to bed. This morning he did not get up for breakfast and at noon Walter Billings, son of the landlord, went to his room to call him for dinner. He was horrified and frightened to discover the partially nude form of Detweiler lying across the bed, apparently dead. An alarm was quickly raised and soon three physicians were at work trying to resuscitate the unfortunate man. A small box, half filled with morphine, was found in Detweiler's vest pocket and a card was also found on which was written in lead pencil the following:

"To My Friends: I have sinned and I have paid the penalty. Having made the supreme sacrifice I feel that my atonement is complete and ask my friends to forgive."

SOLON DETWEILER.
Detweiler is a young man, probably 28 years of age. Deputy Marshal Ned Sisson, whose home is also in Elid, used this afternoon that Detweiler was not known to have any bad habits and he could not conceive of his committing suicide. Which would lead him to attempt suicide. His parents are said to be well-to-do people living twelve miles west of Elid. They have been notified of their son's condition, and a telegram to the same effect was sent to Mr. Patrick, business partner of Detweiler.

FACULTY AT STILLWATER

Rejoices in the Acquisition of Two Exceptionally Strong Men.

Stillwater, O. T., July 15.—The Agricultural and Mechanical college is rejoicing in the addition of two exceptionally strong men to its faculty.

Mr. Keith Campbell of Baltimore, has been elected as assistant in the department of English, in charge also of Latin and German. He holds the degree of A. B. and B. S. from the University of Maryland. A. B. from William and Mary college, and Ph. D. from Johns Hopkins university. In the last named institution Dr. Campbell took post-graduate work for four years, holding for the first three years the Hopkins scholarship, and during the fourth year the fellowship in English. He also studied in England, and has taught successfully for several years. Dr. Bright, of Johns Hopkins, says of him: "Dr. Campbell is too good to be for a moment questioned."

Professor Frank C. Burtis, for the last four years a member of the faculty of the State Agricultural college of Kansas, has been elected to the chair of agriculture and horticulture. It is enough of him to say that he is recommended by Dr. True of Washington, director of experiment stations of the United States. A few days after his election he received a call to a similar position from Arizona at a substantially greater salary, but he held to his engagement at this college.

The annual catalogue is out. It is a handsome pamphlet of 50 pages, printed by the college press, and full of interesting information. Director Fields has just finished the preparation of a report that will be of immense value to the farmers of Oklahoma. Besides the experiment station report for the year, it contains a summary of all the experiments which are of living value. It will be printed by the middle of August and will go to 15,000 Oklahoma farmers.

LOVE-MAKING IN CUBA

Rough Rider Rhodes Relates Some Amusing Experiences.

Guthrie, O. T., July 15.—J. D. Rhodes, once a Rough Rider, now at Matanzas, Cuba, in writing to the Hennessey Kicker, divulges a fact that will cause uneasiness to all wives who have husbands in Cuba: "The beautiful senoritas. I am not a ladies' man; I can't give very much information except in a general way. To begin with, if there are any beautiful ones here they must be in the convents or some other place as inaccessible, as I have never seen one that could be called beautiful. They are easily to get acquainted with, as they all want to get married and each wants an American. If one calls upon one of the senoritas he must see her in the presence of the whole family, and this is a rule never broken. The second time, a person is supposed to be invited by the girl's beauty and looked upon as a near possibility for a husband. The girl makes no hesitancy in asking if you are married and if you want a wife. The third or fourth call the father is pretty apt to ask your intentions. To be seen walking on the plaza with one alone is equivalent to an engagement and is so regarded by friends of the family. This has been the experience of every American here. One young lady asked me if there were no girls in America, and when I replied in the affirmative she said she supposed they must be very few, as every American in Cuba was a single man."

MAYOR FOREMAN'S FUNERAL

Sketch of the Later Career of the "Father of El Reno."

El Reno, O. T., July 15.—The funeral of Mayor John A. Foreman, who died yesterday morning, was held this morning at 10 o'clock. A large procession of old soldiers and early settlers followed the remains to the cemetery, where they were laid to rest. From the birth of El Reno Mayor Foreman has been a conspicuous figure in the town's history. The first lots of the original townsite were platted on the homestead of the deceased. He was interested at all times in every enterprise that would add to the welfare of the town and was often referred to as the "Father of El Reno." He was an old soldier, and during the civil war was at one time commander of Fort Gibson, with a reputation of a good fighter. After the close of the war he was a steamboat captain for a while and a the opening of Oklahoma settled on the claim which afterwards was occupied by the city of El Reno. He leaves a wife and daughter.

DEATH OF WILLIAM CONNOR

For Many Years a Leading Man
Among the Oklahomans.

Guthrie, O. T., July 15.—The death of William Connor at Monett, Mo., removes a unique and interesting character from active life in the territory, says the Ponca City Courier. He was a member of the Oseage family and nearly a full blood, and always wielded an important influence with that branch of the tribe. Wm. Connor was a man of about fifty years of age and during that time his people had passed through many stirring times, but he lived to see the troubles mostly passed and his tribe collectively the wealthiest people in the world. He was an educated scholar, an able lawyer, a judge of men, and a man of great capacity, and a number of years was justice of the Oseage nation. He was a man of much force of character, an ardent friend and an equally ardent enemy. His life was full of exciting experiences, which reduced to story would be truly thrilling. It is a matter of regret that he should meet death as he did, and his loss will be keenly felt by the tribe, especially among full-bloods.

ON A CHARGE OF FORGERY

William Murphy Arrested at Perry and Brought Over.

Perry, O. T., July 15.—William Murphy was arrested here yesterday on a charge of forgery brought by B. Rorkaway, one of the merchants of this city. On July 2 Rorkaway cashed a check for $15 for Murphy, the check being payable to Rorkaway. Murphy, however, cashed the check at his home and did not return the check to Rorkaway. Rorkaway, however, did not return the check to Murphy, and Murphy was found in possession of the check and a card was also found on which was written in lead pencil the following:

"To My Friends: I have sinned and I have paid the penalty. Having made the supreme sacrifice I feel that my atonement is complete and ask my friends to forgive."

NEWKIRK'S WHITE LIMESTONE

Is to Prove a Mine of Wealth to This Fortunate City.

Newkirk, O. T., July 15.—A strong company will soon be formed to put the Kay county white limestone on the market. The stone is superior to anything in the west. In the marble shop of a local dealer here are some specimens of the stone in the rough, and also polished, and experts say there is a fortune in it for some one. The Kay county bank building just finished, is built of this white limestone, and it, together with Mr. Geisler's two large stone store buildings, makes the stone shop up here. Since the people know the quality of the stone and its cheapness Newkirk is taking on a good, substantial building move.

Had the Mortgage Habit, Bad.

Guthrie, O. T., July 15.—A. M. Wall, who lives south of Manchester, has been arrested and lodged in jail at Pond Creek charged with one piece. He is a German farmer.

ROBBER IS SHOT DEAD

By Officers at Perry While Resisting Arrest.

CLEANED OUT A FARMER

Showed Up While His Victim
Was Posting the Police.

Perry, O. T., July 15.—Another bold, bad man lies in the undertaking room of Mr. Wade of this city, awaiting the arrival of his old and honored father from Pawnee county. Stiff in death he lies there without one true friend to drop a tear over his magnificent physique and early departed life. He was probably a dime novel reader and thought he was smart enough to make a living without hard work or an honest effort.

The readers of the Eagle will remember that Friday's paper contained an account of Storekeeper Wilson, east of this city, being robbed of about $50. No apparent clue as to the perpetrator of the crime was discovered, but on Thursday afternoon a young fellow about 20 years old, who had just sold a load of wheat, to permit him to ride out in the country for the purpose of hunting a job with a threshing outfit. Young Dague willingly and unobtrusively consented and about 6 o'clock the two started out of town. Dague had used three horses in bringing his wheat into town, and on the road home led one of the horses behind the wagon. About dark, when about ten miles from the city, the stranger asked Dague to stop his team a moment, whereupon the stranger jumped out of the wagon, drew a revolver and commanded young Dague to turn over what money he had. Dague did so, giving the highway robber about $40. The robber thereupon untied the horse from the rear of the wagon, and Dague to drive on home and, mounting rapidly, fled in the direction of the city. Dague proceeded but a short distance until he was overtaken by young Morgan, another farm boy, and together they unhitched their horses, bestrode two of them and rode rapidly after the fleeing man. On the road they secured a buggy and finished the trip into town, arriving here about 10 o'clock. The officers were promptly notified, and while Dague, Sheriff Foster and Under-Sheriff Payne were in Jones' saloon talking the matter over, the robber appeared on the scene. Dague told the sheriff that his robber was before him, and to arrest him. The surprise at the quick appearance of the man created a moment's delay, which the thief took advantage of by drawing his gun and sniping it at the sheriff. Foster immediately drew his gun and fired, the ball entering the robber's body four inches to the right of the right nipple, ranging upward, and it left the body under the left arm, tore across the partition of the saloon and imbedded itself in the wood of the frame of the window beyond. The man staggered, made an ineffectual effort to shoot again, reeled, and would have fallen had not Foster and Payne gently assisted him to the floor. He died without a word a few moments. On his person was found part of the money taken from Dague, his watch ticket for the wheat sold, and several other things which established his identity beyond a doubt. A coroner's jury returned a verdict of justifiable homicide at the hands of an officer. The dead man's name is S. M. Wilson, or Moss Wilson, as he is known at his home, near Crystal, O. T., south of Pawnee. Yesterday afternoon he was identified by both Mr. Wilson and his wife as the man who had robbed them at their store a few evenings before. On Wilson's person was also found a false beard and mustache, one green goods letter and a slung shot. He was evidently a victim of the glare and tinsel of the dime novel. This is the end of the third highway robber in three months in this county. In other two, with indictments still hanging over them, are each doing ten years in the penitentiary at Lansing, Kansas.

BIG CORN ABOUT NORMAN

Tour in the Country Adjacent Dis-closes Marvelous Resources.

Norman, O. T., July 15.—Through the kindness of Mr. R. J. Morgan, a judge of the Santa Fe here, a representative of the Eagle was shown a scope of country some three miles in all directions from town, and if anybody thinks there isn't some big corn in that part of Oklahoma, he is mistaken. Mr. Morgan came from Wichita here. He says corn, cotton and wheat are all right. There are some thin brackles for a few weeks, which shows how the people of Oklahoma are fixed.

NEWKIRK FOR EXPANSION

Said Expansion to Take the Form of Waterworks and the Like.

Newkirk, O. T., July 15.—The city is growing in such a substantial way that our citizens, through the city council, are asking a system of water works, and are getting up a set of plans and specifications for the promoters of such plants to figure on, either as a corporation or for municipal ownership. Our city has almost 2,000 population and will amply pay some one to put in a water works and electric light plant.

Corn is looking fine and is almost all made.

MR. WICKMILLER'S PLUCK

Has Landed Him Up in the Front
Rank of the Successful.

Kingsfisher, O. T., July 15.—C. P. Wickmiller of this city left this week for the mountains with his wife and two daughters for a summer vacation. Mr. Wickmiller's experience is a typical one in Oklahoma. Mr. Wickmiller is a druggist in this city. He came in at the opening and started a drug store. Three years ago the store burned down and was a total loss. Mr. Wickmiller put his shoulder to the wheel, built up his business again, now has a fine drug store free of debt, and feels far enough along to take a vacation in the mountains.

FIRE AT WAGONER, I. T.

Does Damage to the Extent of from $20,000 to $75,000.

Muskogee, I. T., July 15.—Between $20,000 and $75,000 damage was done by fire today at Wagoner, I. T. The fire started in Wagoner's bakery and burned about twenty buildings. The heaviest losses were: Shaeffer Packing company, $15,000; Scripps Packing plant, $20,000; Falm's drug store, $12,000; Prendergrass' grocery, $8,000. The Muskogee fire department made the run of sixteen miles in sixteen minutes and assisted in subduing the conflagration.

IN WALLA TONAKA'S CASE

Judge Thomas Will Invoke All the Federal Law There.

Kansas City, Mo., July 15.—A special from Tulsa, I. T., says: The execution of William O'Ging, in defiance of a writ of habeas corpus issued by United States Judge John R. Thomas, will be made the direct cause for bringing those implicated to trial for murder. Judge Thomas, in an interview last night, twenty miles west of here, where he is fishing and camping with a party of friends, stated he would see that the law in respect to disobeying an order from the United States government is fully investigated and that all the guilty ones are brought to justice. The open violation of Judge Thomas' order has created much excitement, and it is predicted, marks the beginning of the end of conflicting laws in the Indian Territory. As a matter of fact, all tribal laws in the territory are of no effect, yet all the tribes cling to their old Indian laws and continue to insist on self-government. At South McAlester United States Judge Clayton is quoted as saying Judge Thomas had no jurisdiction in the district in which the execution took place.

PERSONAL PROPERTY SHY

Kingsfisher Free Press is Taking Assessors to Task.

Guthrie, O. T., July 15.—The Kingsfisher Free Press is making war on the returns made by the county assessors. The assessors have failed to assess to return a single watch in some towns, and the Free Press expresses great concern for the people of those places. Only thirty-four watches were found in Kingsfisher county and thirty-six in Hennessey. Other personal property is also meagerly returned.

LINCOLN COUNTY REUNION

O. G. A. R. Veterans Will be Held at Stroud, August 15-17.

Guthrie, O. T., July 15.—The Lincoln county G. A. R. will hold a three-day's reunion at Stroud, commencing August 15. A feature will be a sham battle in which Company K of the Oklahoma National Guard and a company organized from Stroud and vicinity will participate. A number of well known speakers are to be in attendance.

HELPED CHASE JESTER

Abel Washburn of Hennessey Had Experience in Missouri.

Kingsfisher, O. T., July 15.—Abel Washburn of Hennessey, is well acquainted with old man Jester. Washburn, then quite a lad, helped in the chase for Jester when he escaped from jail. One of his cousins in Missouri, John Washburn, who was in the chase, came up to Jester, who threw a rock at him, knocked him down and escaped.

POND CREEK JAIL HAUNTED

Skeptical County Commissioners
Don't Have the Spooks Bowed.

Guthrie, O. T., July 15.—The prisoners in the Pond Creek jail claim that the jail is haunted and that they are kept awake by strange noises and lights. There are five men in the place and they have petitioned to be relieved of the haunts. The county commissioners will take no action.

TWO STILLWATER BANKS

Consolidated Under the Title of First National Bank of Stillwater.

Perry, O. T., July 15.—The Farmers' and Merchants' bank of Stillwater, and the Payne county bank have consolidated and nationalized, becoming the First National bank of Stillwater. The capital is $50,000.

Pastor Griffin of Shawnee Resigns.

Shawnee, O. T., July 15.—Rev. W. Griffin, pastor of the Presbyterian church of this city, has filed his resignation as such, to take effect October 1, which resignation has been officially accepted. The church has prospered under his pastorate and he is loved by all who know him. Wherever he goes he will carry the best wishes of friends and those who obtain his services are to be congratulated.

Marshal Crank's Tenure of Office.

Oklahoma City, O. T., July 15.—John V. Crank, the watchman of Tecumseh who shot Mr. Grah recently, has been made city marshal for that city. There is some objection to his selection on account of the shooting and the city council has promised that if he is not exonerated at his preliminary, July 22, he will be removed and another appointed in his place.

Hutchinson and Southern's Course.

Guthrie, O. T., July 15.—There is a great deal of speculation in regard to the future course of the Hutchinson and Southern railroad, the construction of which is now in sight of Ponca City. Reliable authority locates the future course of the road in the direction of Pawhuska and thence to the coal fields of the Cherokee nation.

Governor Barnes's Return Home.

Guthrie, O. T., July 15.—Governor Barnes returned last night from a four days' visit in Chicago. His trip related entirely to private matters and he would not discuss politics other than asserting a confidence that the appointment of George Ouellet as county commissioner would be announced shortly.

To Refund Payne County Bonds.

Ponca City, O. T., July 15.—The commissioners of Payne county have decided to refund $50,000 worth of Payne county bonds, now drawing 7 per cent. They have an opportunity to refund them at 4 per cent. to run for a period of twenty years, and will probably avail themselves of it.

Rock Island Inspection Points.

Guthrie, O. T., July 15.—Frank Prouty, who has been made chief scale inspector, under his father, the grain inspector of the territory, says that there will be two points of inspection on the Rock Island, one at Medford and one at El Reno.

Destructive Fire at Wagoner.

Little Rock, Ark., July 15.—Fire at Wagoner, I. T., today caused a loss of $20,000. The department of Muskogee went to the scene and succeeded in controlling the flames.

Billy Walker in Guthrie.

Guthrie, O. T., July 15.—Billy Walker is temporarily assisting the school land department in the added rush of business incident to the reappraisal of the school lands.

Popular Headed Star for Sale.

Guthrie, O. T., July 15.—The editor of the Medford Star, a Popular paper, will soon sell his plant out. He intends to remove to Buffalo, N. Y.

Indianapolis, July 15.—The property of the Indianapolis and Broad Rapid Transit company was sold to W. F. Brown, well known throughout Ohio, for $25,000. The property was sold to Brown represented Baltimore capitalists.

COLT - KILLING MULE

Given Heroic Treatment by His Indian Owner.

COLT'S FLESH CUT UP

And Jammed Down Mr. Mule's
Neck—Besides Indignities.

Shawnee, O. T., July 15.—A novel remedy for the viciousness of mules towards young colts has just come to light from among the blanket Mexican Kickapoo Indians, immediately west of this city. Some weeks ago Assistant Special United States Indian Agent Martin J. Bentley, in the course of business, issued a mule to Wah-nap-ke-che-kah, a member of that tribe. The Indian turned the mule into a pasture where, among other horses, was a young colt. Soon the mule began fighting the colt and before it could be stopped, he killed it in a corner and killed it. Wah-nap-ke-che-kah and his son caught the mule, threw him down and tied him securely. They then cut out large portions of the colt's flesh and with sticks poked them down the mule's throat, almost choking him to death. They cut the colt's intestines open and rubbed their contents in the mule's face and tied a large portion of the mule's nose around the mule's neck, and left him tied down in this condition several hours. When untied the mule relieved himself of the burden, and now when he sees a colt coming he goes the other day. The Indians did not feed the mule the choice portions of the colt. They feasted on that themselves.

SPANKING THE CONVICTS

How the Warden of the Colorado Penitentiary Keeps Order.

New York, July 15.—The Denver correspondent of the World thus describes the spanking system in use in the Colorado penitentiary: Warden Hoyt of the Canon City penitentiary does not use a "spanking machine" to discipline prisoners, as widely reported, but a plain barrel stave, the victim being turned face down over a table during the period of punishment.

This style of punishment has been used by Mr. Hoyt for several months before he made a report to the authorities. It was so successful that the system was introduced into other state institutions. It has vastly improved the discipline in all of them.

From the earliest criminal history of the state there has been a continual outcry against cruelties and alleged outrages committed on obstreperous prisoners. Before Warden Hoyt's time the favorite punishment among the wardens and superintendents of institutions was starvation and the dunce, varied by tying up by the thumbs for men and boys and deluging with cold water for women and girls. In every institution there were found several prisoners who from these harsh methods of punishment had to be practiced continually. Not the slightest improvement was noticeable. A man would come out of the dungeon famished, ill, and very sulky. The great pain of the thumb-screws only made stubborn prisoners more like animals in their desire for revenge. Bad-tempered men would go through the cold-water treatment and afterward be more like devils than before.

Warden Hoyt's study of the subject showed him that obstreperous prisoners should be treated like children at home. A well-fed boy who commits an offense is flogged by his father, who then talks to him in a reasonable frame of mind. Hoyt determined to try the same treatment on his wards. He argued that a convict was a man who had lost most of his self-respect. If this could be regained punishment would have vastly greater effect. His method is to send a subject for punishment to his office at noon, where he is given a lecture, the intent being to make him ashamed of himself. An assistant is called in and the man or woman is tied across a narrow table, with hands and feet pinioned to the floor. A double barrel stave, which makes lots of noise, is then used in a lively fashion by the assistant. The prisoner at the next meal time is isolated from the other prisoners and given to eat the best that the institution affords, and all he can eat. He is admonished that, for the sake of the institution and the feelings of those in control, as well as for his own self-respect, the offense be not repeated.

The noise of the barrel-stave, introduced recently to punish the other prisoners, but this was all that was ever known about it. A strict injunction is given to the guards not to mention the culprit to the other prisoners. The warden's idea is to make a serious matter of it. The bodily suffering and mental torment he aims to soothe by making the prisoner believe that he is really his friend, and feels the pride of a father in any improvement shown in an obstreperous son.

At first the warden was a very busy man attending to petty offenses by spanking, but at present the discipline is good that punishment of any kind is rarely used.

A new prisoner, however, had his record and nature, is quickly informed by other convicts what the rules are. A certain pride in making matters run smoothly has been inculcated in the inmates, and Warden Hoyt's duties are much lightened.

At the other state institutions the plan has worked equally well after the methods of the inventor had been studied. It has been found that a great deal of that had to be displaced. Some of the warden and superintendents at first made a failure of the spanking plan, because they did not see the importance of making friends with the unruly prisoner, but finally, after much correspondence and visits from Mr. Hoyt, every state institution administrators only the spanking treatment, and with complete success.

At the State Industrial Home for Girls, situated at Denver, where thirty-eight girls are now confined, generally for incorrigibility, before the spanking plan was introduced, there was constant turmoil. Lack of discipline by matron after matron was responsible for a state of anarchy which necessitated in many cases almost constant confinement in dungeons, with all its bad effects. The question of the cruelties practiced at this institution was twice made a state scandal, and once last spring the state legislature administered the most severe of the treatment accorded the unfortunate girls sent over the whole country.

At present everything is running like clockwork at the girls' school, all because kind treatment and the spanking plan have been in use for eight months.

Youngstown, Ohio, July 15.—Judge L. W. King, a prominent lawyer and Republican politician, was killed through a fall, died at 4:30 this morning, after an illness of several months. He was 65 years old.

J. E. Caldwell,

132 North Main.

A jeweler in Attleboro Falls, Mass., contends that he is heir to a most unfortunate inheritance. "My mother's family," he asserts, "has been troubled with dyspepsia for generations and I seem to have inherited it. It began to trouble me very bad last winter, although I have had attacks for months in the spring before. I went to our family doctor and took his medicine all winter with no relief. I had taken the Ripley Tablets ads in the papers, being attracted by the peculiar trade-mark, and one day in Providence, while suffering from an attack
